sms messaging

“Kendlebell let all my employees know the office was flooded, so now I can carry on working from home without a hitch”

“ After one night of extremely bad weather the office was flooded and we were unable to occupy it the next day.

Kendlebell were able to send a group sms message to all our staff telling them about the problem and giving instructions as to what to do. Kendlebell also sent a message to our clients and advised them of an alternative telephone number to maintain contact with us.

It was certainly a good move to incorporate this service into our Business Continuity Plan and has already paid for itself. ”

sms messaging

It is vital to have a reliable way of keeping in touch with staff, suppliers or people who use your services.

Text messaging – or SMS – is a great way to communicate with people important to your business. Whether you need to send a quick message to a single colleague or alert thousands of people at once, Kendlebell can manage your communications for you no matter where you are in the world, and at a cost that is almost certainly less than your mobile phone service provider.

This fast, safe and efficient SMS broadcasting service can make all the difference to your business success. And it is a service that is available 24 hours a day, every day. You can either manage your own broadcasts or we can do it for you. It is being increasingly used by companies as a part of their emergency planning systems, particularly where the ability to communicate with customers or staff via email has been temporarily lost.

It is the kind of service which can make a big difference to your enterprise or organisation be it large or small. Whether you are a business or a charity, a school or a trade association, if you ever need to tell large numbers of people about an event or an incident you can contact them quickly and simply using our SMS broadcast system. It's a particularly powerful service when tied in to any Business Continuity Plan.

There are a range of flexible tariffs to suit all budgets.
